Miraculous Escape of a Car
Load of Passengers.

The New England Mills Wreck
Special to the GAZETTE.

CORVAX (Cal.), Oct. 12.—The west-bound fast mail train on the Central Pacific left the track three miles west of Corvax at 3 o'clock this morning. The train consisted of four sleeping cars, one baggage and two mail cars. One sleeper broke from the train and rolled down the embankment about 50 feet. The porter of this car is badly injured.

The train had between 80 and 100 passengers, many of whom were scratched and bruised, but no fatalities are thus far reported. The cause of the accident was the loosening of a rail on a curve, which is believed to have been the work of unknown parties.

The bolts and nuts were taken out of the rail and it spread apart when the train ran over it. The track is torn up and the ties are splintered for nearly 1,000 feet. The engine, fruit car and one coach got over in safety, but the mail car jumped from the rails without leaving the roadbed. The sleeper Shoshone jumped about half way across the track and the Pullman sleeper Santa Cruz was thrown down an embankment and badly mashed. About fifteen passengers were in the coach but none were seriously hurt. They were extricated from their uncomfortable position, where they almost smothered, by the trainmen, who cut a hole in the side of the car. It is claimed that goods to the value of $5,000 or $6,000 are still in the sleeper, consisting of jewelry and diamonds. One woman was almost suffocated before released. The wreck is supposed to have been the work of train robbers who were trying to rob the mail car.

Railroad detective Ben True is engaged in searching for the perpetrators. It is said he has good reason to believe he knows the men but Mr. True will not say anything about the matter.

The Daltons are supposed by many to have had a hand in it.

The passengers were transferred and taken down about 11 o'clock to-day. Much harm was done to the company's roadbed and rolling stock and it was a miracle that no lives were lost. The track is now clear and trains are running on time.

Those mostly hurt; are Geo. W. Farnum of Los Angeles, shoulder badly bruised; James Colt, the porter on the Santa Cruz sleeper, thigh injured by striking against the car; Miss E. Cogswell from the East had her back badly strained and bruised; Annie McLaughlin of Reno had her ear badly cut and torn from its socket. Others are slightly bruised and cut.

Mrs. Parnell's Health.
By Cable and Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 12.—The health of Mrs. Parnell has not improved; she is still under the constant care of her physicians and her heart is said to be very weak. Physicians in attendance to-day have prevailed upon her to partake of some slight nourishment.

United States Supreme Court.
By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, (D. C.), Oct. 12.—The Supreme Court of the United States met for the October term to-day. Three justices were absent from the court. Chief Justice Fuller was in Chicago where his daughter is very ill, and Justice Bradley and Gray had both been ill, but are now recovering. The business transacted was the admission of applicants to practice before the Court, and an announcement by Justice Field, that the most important cases advanced for argument next Monday were postponed until the second Monday in November. This step was taken for the reason that it is desired that they shall be heard by the full bench, and the probability is that all the Justices will not be present Monday next. The list includes the Sayward case, which involves the question of jurisdiction of the United States over the seal fisheries in the Behring sea, anti lottery cases, the elevator case, and cases involving the question of the constitutionality of the McKinley tariff act. The Court adjourned a few minutes after 12 o'clock and went in a body to pay its respects to the president.

Sealing in Bering Sea.
By Associated Press.

OTTAWA (Ont.), Oct. 12.—This government has been advised of the anticipated raising of a blockade in Bering Sea next season.

Orders have been given to Nova Scotia shipbuilders for the construction of several new vessels, to be added to the British Columbia sealing fleet.

A movement is on foot among several Nova Scotia ship-owners to form a syndicate and go extensively into the sealing business, sending a large fleet around the Horn this winter to engage in the Bering sealing next spring.

British Columbian owners say that the Nova Scotians are going to kill the industry if they send out a fleet of thirty vessels as proposed by the syndicate.

The government here positively declines to give them any assurance that their vessels will be protected from seizure in the Bering Sea next spring.

Political Buds in Connecticut.
By Associated Press.

HARTFORD (Conn.), Oct. 13.—The Treasurer and Comptroller were required by law to meet to-day in the Treasurer's office to fix a value on non-resident stock in banks and insurance companies, for taxation. This morning Comptroller Staub (Dem.) appeared, accompanied by M. H. Sanger, the Democratic candidate for Treasurer at the late election. The Treasurer's office is still occupied by Henry, the Republican holdover. Sanger was refused admission as Treasurer, but was told he could enter as a citizen. He and the Comptroller then met as a Board outside of the Treasurer's office and adjourned until 1 o'clock, to meet in the Comptroller's office. This action is likely to complicate the collection of State taxes.

Regret for the Irish Leader.
By Cable and Associated Press.

DUBLIN, Oct. 12.—The newspapers of this city to-day continue their eulogies to the late Charles Stewart Parnell and on all sides are heard expressions of the greatest regret for the dead.

It is reported here that an informal meeting of Parnellite members of Commons was held this morning and it was decided not to accept any overtures for coalition with the McCarthyites, but to continue the struggle for the leadership of the Irish Parliamentary party on lines laid down by Parnell in his efforts to regain the position from which he had been deposed by the majority of his former followers.

Wrecked U. S. Sloop Sigsbee.
By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Lieutenant Cowles, commanding the U. S. steamship Dispatch, telegraphed the Secretary of the Navy, from the Assateague life saving station, that all the officers and crew of the vessel were safe on shore and had saved all their clothing and all the boats.

Sutter Yantic arrived at the scene of the wreck but has been unable so far to render any assistance. It is now believed that the Dispatch is a total loss.

Stanley's Narrow Escape.
By Associated Press.

ROME, Oct. 12.—The Brindisi express, on board of which was Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Stanley, was completely wrecked at Carovigno. The Stanley party with all the passengers escaped, though they had a narrow escape from death.

Trainsmen's Convention.
By Associated Press.

GALESBURG (Ill.), Oct. 12.—The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen's Convention adjourned this forenoon until Wednesday to give the committee time in which to prepare the reports.

Earthquakes.
Special to the GAZETTE.

NAPA (Cal.), Oct. 12.—The earthquakes during last night have set Napa into a fever of excitement. The first shock came at 9:16, but was light. At 10:29 came a heavy shock which lasted 46 seconds. It was a twisting motion from right to left. Many people ran into the street, wild with fright. Some fainted and all were greatly exercised, but no fatalities are reported. Lighter shocks followed during the entire night. Some say there were twelve shakes, while others profess to have counted seventeen. Some people remained in the street all night. The damage is not very heavy on any one building, but in aggregate is considerable. Scores of chimneys are thrown down or turned three-fourths around. Many brick buildings are badly cracked and the wall decorations in most of the fine houses are badly damaged. The insane Asylum reports some damage to the walls, but nothing serious.

SANTA ROSA, Oct. 12.—The severest earthquake shock felt here in four years occurred last night at 12:30 o'clock. The oscillations were north and south and lasted 45 seconds. A slight trembling was perceptible for three or four seconds.

SAN RAFAEL, Oct. 12.—The most severe earthquake experienced for years was felt here last night at 10:26 o'clock. The shock, which lasted about twelve seconds, was preceded by a dull rumbling noise. Many people sought refuge in the street. Two shocks of lesser power were felt this morning about 4 o'clock.

Petaluma, Oct. 12.—The heaviest earthquake shock since 1868 was experienced here last night. The shock was preceded by a light one, and after it came six or seven other shocks, the last one being about 5 o'clock this morning. The main shock lasted fully nine seconds.

SONOMA (Cal.), Oct. 12.—Sonoma and vicinity was visited last night by the most terrible earthquakes ever experienced in this section. The people were shaken out of bed, chimneys demolished, windows broken and the interior of almost every plastered house in town shows the effects of the shock, which lasted about eight seconds. The Parkett residence and wine cellar at the outskirts of town were badly damaged. On S. F. Rengstrom's farm a large chimney fell and went crashing through the roof to the floor below. Several chimneys in town were also overthrown, but fortunately no one was injured. Reports from all over the valley show more or less damage. On the Polkula ranch, which contains a number of warm springs, the earthquake caused the water to gush forth in torrents. More or less damage was done to every building in Sonoma valley.

The San Francisco Postoffice Site.
By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Assistant Secretary Crounse telegraphed to John P. Irish of San Francisco, Chairman of the Special Committee, appointed to select a site for the public building in that city, that De Young said the site selected was a quagmire and that it would cost over a million dollars to lay the foundation on it. A telegram was received from Irish to-day, saying in reply: De Young's charge has no foundation, but that the site is a good one. He added he would forward affidavits to that effect made by architects and engineers.

O'Connor on the Irish Question.
By Cable and Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—T. H. O'Connor, member of Parliament, in an interview regarding the situation of the Irish Parliamentary affairs, said: "The strongest desire of the majority is not to stand between the nation and restoration of unity. With this object in view, many meetings, including the important convention which was to have been held in Cork, has been postponed. We desire to show our profound respect and grief in the most emphatic manner."

England's Explanation.
By Cable and Associated Press.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 12.—The British Ambassador delivered to the Porte England's reply to the latter's note regarding the recent passage through the Dardanelles of the vessels of the Russian volunteer fleet, and as to the action taken by the Sultan in the matter. England answers in full, explaining her position in the matter and clearly defines the grounds she has taken.

A Tag Goes Ashore.
By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The Superintendent of the life saving service received information to the effect that the tug Rattler of New York, bound from Boston to Philadelphia with a crew of ten men went ashore this morning on Cape Henlopen. The tug broke loose from the ship A. P. Cheney. All on board were saved.

Maurice B. Strellinger, the actor, charged with the murder of Police officer Alexander Grant at San Francisco, was held to answer before the Superior Court this morning by Judge Riz.

Rev. Dr. Green's Sermon.
By Associated Press.

PASADENA (N. J.), Oct. 12.—The Rev. Dr. Green, Senior Professor of the Theological Seminary and Moderator of the last General Assembly, who is perhaps the most profound biblical student opposed to the revision of confession of faith, preached yesterday before the college students, and in the course of his sermon, after reviewing his well known argument for the verbal inspiration of scriptures, said:

"The question is as to the general trustworthiness of the bible. Can we accept the old testimony at all, if it is full of false statements in historical facts, which are not incidental, but essential? If the stories and miracles are the emanation of the heated Oriental brain and the prophets were drivers of the people, if human history contained in the bible is untrue, can we accept as true the statements for which it is the only authority concerning God? This is the point for which we are fighting, not as to mere verbal inaccuracy, but as to the broad truthfulness and trustworthiness of the bible, against destructive criticism, which throws wide open the gate which would lead up and down into self-seeking relationship."

American and German Negotiations.
By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—A report published in a morning paper to the effect that a convention has been concluded with Germany by which cereal products of the United States would be admitted free of duty is not true. Negotiations have for some time been in progress between the two governments with a view on the part of Germany to secure continued free admission of her sugar into this country in return for certain concessions of customs duty to be extended by Germany to American products of various description.

It is learned, however, that these negotiations are still in an uncompleted stage, but there is progress, with good prospects of their being brought to a satisfactory conclusion before the 1st of next January, when the President will possess the power to issue a proclamation imposing duties conditionally, levied by the tariff act of October 1, 1890, upon all sugars imported from any country that imposes duties upon the agricultural or other products of the United States, which in his judgment are not reciprocally equal and reasonable.

The Audience Compulsory.
By Cable and Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—Dispatches received here from Hongkong announce publication of memorials to the Chinese Minister to London addressed to the throne of China, throws light upon the recent Imperial audience granted to the Ministers of the Powers. It was at first supposed that granting this audience was a spontaneous act of courtesy upon the part of the Emperor, but the memorials referred to show it was only accorded after the Chinese Minister at London strenuously urged this step in order to avoid in anticipation of a resolute combined demand for an audience, which was to have been made by the representatives of all the European powers.

Colored Church Convention.
By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The fifth day of the Ecumenical Methodist Council opened with Bishop Hood of the African M. E. Zion Church, of Fayette, N. C., in the chair. The opening services of the council was conducted by colored men.

The topic for the morning session was "The church and her agencies," and Bishop R. S. Foster of Massachusetts proceeded to address the council on "Responsibilities and qualifications of preachers."

Deftester Evans.
By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12.—New developments in connection with the sudden disappearance of Wm. Evans, Secretary of the Morse Wool Scouring Company, which occurred several days ago, place the amount of the shortage discovered at $60,000. Evans' friends deny the defalcation and claim that Evans will appear in good time and explain the deficiency.

The Omaha Lynching.
By Associated Press.

OMAHA, Oct. 12.—Three additional arrests were made this morning, of citizens charged with participating in Friday night's lynching, and when all the warrants are served there will be 25 under arrest. Nearly all the defendants gave bonds.

A Wrecked Crew Landed.
By Cable and Associated Press.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 12.—The British steamer Phidias, which arrived here to-day from New York, had on board the crew of the Dutch bark Nicolette, from Quebec for Greenock, which was abandoned in a sinking condition off Constantinople.

Ex-Governor Bigelow died at the New Haven House, New Haven, Connecticut, at 8:53 o'clock this morning.

Perils of the Atlantic.
By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—On account of the cyclones prevalent this season life aboard was attended with great peril and much physical discomfort. The Alaska is a day overdue and has not yet been heard from, and the Augusta Victoria was not sighted until early this morning.

The Umbria, of the Cunard line, was due yesterday and was not reported off Sandy Hook until last night. The two steamers report having met a number of cyclones. The Augusta Victoria arrived at her dock shortly before noon. Her officers reported that from October 4th to October 9th they experienced heavy westerly gales with tremendously high seas. The steamer sustained no great damage but several passengers were thrown down and a number of them had arms or legs broken or were severely cut about the head.

The Umbria also reported bad weather. The steamer sustained no damage, but a few of the passengers were injured.

During the greater part of her trip the Augusta Victoria's passengers were not allowed on deck. During the whole voyage her commander never slept; he was on the bridge night and day. It was the unanimous verdict of all on board that to his wonderful seamanship and skill in handling the great vessel was due the safety of the ship and passengers. For four days her decks were under water most of the time. The seas were like mountains and the big vessel pitched and plunged violently with every shock.

New York, Oct. 12.—Espatches from London say: The steamship Devonshire, from Barrow for New York, has been passed at sea abandoned. Nothing has been heard from her Captain or crew. Never has the loss of a steamship at sea caused so much excitement since the great Denmark disaster. In the sea that has been raging for the last week, boats could have hardly lived.

A later dispatch to this city from Lloyds, in London, says the Devonshire was abandoned about 550 miles west of Barrow. Up to the time of the sending of the cablegram nothing had been heard from the captain and crew of 36 men.

CATTLE SHIPMENTS.

The N. C. & O. a Factor in the Traffic.

The N. C. & O. has shipped fifty cars of beef cattle over their road this fall and nearly as many more cars of sheep. T. H. Blackburn shipped five cars of cattle last Saturday and Geo. Humphrey six more. Humphrey will ship six more on Wednesday. Gerlach & Fisk will ship thirty-six cars of sheep the last of this week, and to-morrow D. C. Wheeler will ship twenty cars of fat lambs for the San Francisco market. The beef and mutton market is showing a good deal of activity for so early in the season, which would seem to indicate that butchers feared a shortage before spring.

The District Court.

The case of Haydon vs. Brown occupied the attention of the District Court this morning, and argument by counsel was going on this forenoon. Argument being limited to five hours, two and a half hours on each side, the case will probably be finished to-day, though, as twenty-eight questions of fact were submitted to the jury on special issues, the case may occupy another day.

The case of Datta vs. Gammans comes up for trial upon the completion of the case of Haydon vs. Brown. Letters of administration of Mrs. E. P. Connor were on Saturday issued to the Public Administrator, J. V. Peers.

The Political Situation.

The San Francisco Argonaut sums up the political situation as follows:

The Presidential campaign of 1892 has already begun in two of the great States of the East—Ohio and New York. Nominally the issue is a purely local one, the election of State officers, but in reality the questions presented to the citizens of these States involve the election of next year, and the result will have a very important bearing upon the Presidential campaign of 1892. In Ohio, Major McKinley, whose name is inseparably connected with the new tariff of the United States, is the Republican candidate for governor, and in New York, J. Sloat Fassett, an ardent supporter of the policy of protection has received the same distinction.

Measures, not men, however, must determine the contest soon to be settled in New York and Ohio. The Democratic party has thrown off the mask which it assumed in 1888, and has come out unqualifiedly for free trade. That party has introduced an element of confusion by declaring for free silver in Ohio, and being practically silent on the money question in New York, thus justifying the criticism often passed upon it, that it is always a party of expediency, not of principle. It is for hard money or soft money, for gold or silver, for bimetalism or monometallicism, according as it thinks local success may attend its squirming and twisting; and then, when it comes to framing national issues, it allows Henry Watterson to close all discussion of the matter with "damned silver."

The prospects of success in Ohio and New York are very brilliant at this time for the Republicans. In Ohio, the farmers refuse to be deceived a second time with the fallacious tin-plate argument which was used, with good effect, to defeat McKinley for Congress last year. They see that the McKinley bill has redeemed the pledges made for it; that it has increased the price of farm products and lowered the price of manufactured articles of necessity. They are not ignorant or stupid, those farmers in Ohio, and they see that, with the increase of the free list and the judicious raising of duties on foreign competing products, the tariff operates distinctly in their favor, and they ask themselves the familiar question—why they should exchange a system which has proved itself directly beneficial to them for one which would be at best only an experiment, and whose chief recommendation, if it be a recommendation, is that it is in high favor in England, where the McKinley tariff is regarded as a direct emanation from the bottomless pit.

In New York the agricultural interest is not of so much importance as in Ohio, but the manufacturers of the Empire State see the folly of permitting themselves to be flooded by cheap foreign fabrics of all kinds, as would be the case under a free-trade regime. They know, too, that free trade would compel a lowering of the scale of wages at least to the English level, and inasmuch as their workmen are consumers as well as producers, they can see the logic of conspiring with the Democratic party to ruin the home market by a policy which would inevitably diminish the purchasing power of the vast army of American working-men and working-women.

The burden of proof is clearly upon the Democratic party. The facts and figures which have been presented, and which have not been challenged, amount to a demonstration of the fact that the McKinley bill though only a year old, has operated beneficially for every important American industry. In addition to this, the policy of reciprocity instituted under the third section of the McKinley bill, has vastly increased American trade with the countries producing the articles specified in that section—namely, sugar, molasses, coffee, tea and hides. In view of these facts, the Republican party would be fully justified in acting strictly on the defensive, and challenging its opponents to show in what way the American people could be benefited by a change in fiscal policy.

Such, however, has not been, and will not be, the Republican way of carrying on a political campaign. That party will enter the lists, throw down the gauntlet and challenge all opponents, be they who they may. It declares that its position on the questions of national finance, of the tariff, of payment of the national debt, of internal improvements, of education, of immigration, and of foreign policy are, as they have always been, calculated to subserve the highest and best interests of all classes of the American people, and that the Republican party will be true to its history and its traditions. More than this, it asserts that it possesses the ability, coupled with the desire to adapt itself to the changed and changing conditions of the republic, and that if no precedent exists for a course which shall be for the general good, it will make one, as it has done before.

This is the platform of the Republican party in Ohio and New York, to any one who can read between the lines, and this must be the platform of the National Republican party in 1892.

RIDING A BRONCO.

Old Tootles Prefers a Sudden Death to Another Such Trial.

"Ever hear how Tootles rode Johnson's bronco?" Bill Flagg asked me one day, says Figaro.

I told him I had not and he thereupon cleared his throat and launched into the following:

"I knew that the little bronco was a regular fire-eater the minute I laid eyes on him. One of them quiet chaps, you know—stood with his head down and looked as if he didn't have a friend in the world. Innocent critter, he was! Why, I wouldn't a trusted him no quicker'n I would an Indian; no, sir, not Toot—oh, Lor! He had taken two or three smiles at Rattler's, an' he told me he could ride anything on hoof—Ole Nick included. Johnson was a great joker, an' he jest nagged Toot to ride that sorrel bronco."

"Well, sir, maybe you won't believe it, but they had to tear down the barn around that bronco to get him out, an' then it took every able-bodied man in Skytown to put a bridle on him. All the while they was gettin' the critter ready, Tootles was steadyin' himself against the barn. At last Johnson said: 'All aboard, Toot!' an' Toot walked right up to Mr. Bronco an' got on him, an' the horse never shook an ear or moved a muscle. But I'll be-blasted if he didn't wink at me, that critter, as much as to say: 'You watch me, Bill Flagg, I'll fix him.' Then I said: 'Toot, I'd get off that piece of lightning if I were you. It don't look healthy.' But Toot said: 'Dry up, Bill Flagg. I rode broncos before you was born.' After that I didn't care a rap what become of Tootles."

"As I said before, that hoss never moved an' I began to think he wa'n't goin' to."

"He's petrified," said Johnson, touchin' him in the flank with a pitchfork. "But you bet he wa'n't petrified by a long shot. When he moved, he moved so quick we couldn't see him. Then he jumped in the air 'bout fifteen feet an' come down stiff-legged, ker-bang! After that there was a pause of about two seconds, when the bronco started all ways to once, an' left Toot everywhere. The last we seed of that bronco he was skeddaddlin' over the prairie like all possessed, an' we commenced pickin' up Tootles an' puttin' him together. When we had got enough of him in one pile to talk, he said:

"'Wh-wh-where am I?'"

"We told him."

"'Wh-wh-what did he do?'"

"We couldn't tell what the bronco did, 'cause he did it so quick we couldn't see him."

"'Say, Johnson, was you ever shook up by an earthquake?'"

"'Can't say that I ever was,' said Johnson."

"'Never had any biddin' fall down on you or anythin' like that, I don't suppose?'"

"'Nope.'"

"'Then you don't know how I feel. Got any more critters like that one?'"

"'A whole corral full.'"

"'Then Toot turned to me, an' he says he's got lots of 'em. If you ever see me tryin' to ride another one you just don't me on the spot. I'd rather die a way than linger along. Now help me home.'"

The Beggar of Paris.

A clever Frenchman has just been taking the statistics of the charities of Paris, which are immense in volume, and he finds that three-fourths of the colossal sum which they represent is absorbed by professional beggars. He gives a very amusing account of the devices which they adopt for getting this enormous sum, and for living in idleness upon it, and his conclusion is that the whole system of almsgiving must be reformed. If something is not done soon he thinks that the deserving poor will be entirely crowded out by the fakirs. There are well-known mendicants in Paris who have plied their trade until they have become rich, and who are yet undisturbed by the police.

How to Kill a Cat.

A number of people are interested in learning the best way of painlessly killing animals, and we may usefully note a communication on the subject from a correspondent of the English Mechanic. He writes: "The most merciful way of destroying cats is to chloroform them. Draw a sock (knitted one preferred, as being elastic) over pussy's head so that the toe of the sock is brought to her nose or nearly so; then pour about half a teaspoonful of chloroform on the sock close to her nose. Almost as soon as she has become frightened by the unusual smell of chloroform she quietly goes off to sleep; a little more chloroform is added, perhaps twice, and pussy never wakes again."

Malaria

Is believed to be caused by poisonous miasms arising from low, marshy land or from decaying vegetable matter, and which, breathed into the lungs, enters and poisons the blood. It is a healthy condition of the blood is maintained by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. One is much less liable to malaria, and Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured many severe cases of this distressing affection.

A Wonderful Medicine.

"For malaria I think Hood's Sarsaparilla has no equal. It has kept my children well right through the summer, and we live in one of the worst places for malaria in Maryland. I have Hood's Sarsaparilla. It really is a most reliable malaria, and Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured many severe cases of this distressing affection."

Break-Bone Fever.

"My daughter Pearl was taken with dengue (or break-bone) fever 2 years ago, and my friends thought I would lose her. I had almost given up hope until she began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. She took four bottles in four months, and gained 15 pounds. I thank Hood's Sarsaparilla for giving her back to me restored to health and strength."

A Severe Law.

The English people look more closely to the genuineness of these staples than we do. In fact, they have a law under which they make seizures and destroy adulterated products that are not what they are represented to be. Under this statute thousands of pounds of tea have been burned because of their wholesale adulteration.

Tea, by the way, is one of the most notoriously adulterated articles of commerce. Not alone are the bright, shiny green teas artificially colored, but thousands of pounds of substitutes for tea leaves are used to swell the bulk of cheap teas; ash, alone, and willow leaves being those most commonly used. Again, sweepings from tea warehouses are colored and sold as tea. Even exhausted tea leaves gathered from the tea-houses are kept, dried, and made over and find their way into the cheap teas.

The English government attempts to stamp this out by confiscation; but no tea is too poor for us, and the result is, that probably the poorest teas used by any nation are those consumed in America.

Beech's Tea is presented with the guarantee that it is uncolored and unadulterated; in fact, the sun-dried tea leaf pure and simple. Its purity insures superior strength, about one third less of it being required for an infusion than of the artificial teas, and its fragrance and exquisite flavor is at once apparent. It will be a revelation to you. In order that its purity and quality may be guaranteed, it is sold only in pound packages bearing this trade-mark:

JOTTINGS.

Miss Gibbs is clearing out an extra line of children's hosiery. Call on her and secure a bargain.

Father—Now look here, Dennis, I've told you a hundred times, if I have to tell you again, I'll give you a beating that you'll remember to the end of your days! Son—Lay hands on me at your peril! The presumption of you foreigners is simply disgusting. And he left the rental room and went to the Riverside hotel to board.

"I don't want to be a good, moral little boy," said Johnny, as he put his Sunday-school book aside. "This book says as how the good little boy grows up and marries the Sunday-school Superintendent's daughter. I'd hate to get stuck on that nasty, freckled little tattletale." I'd sooner spend my money for a hot lunch and a glass of beer such as Jake Becker serves.

Mr. J. R. Shepard, manager of the Paris Co-operative Mercantile Institution, Paris, Idaho, says that for colic produced by change of drinking water, Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is without an equal. It is quick and effectual and leaves no bad results. For sale by J. B. McCullough.

Desires to Bear Testimony.

Henry Thorne, traveling secretary of the Y. M. C. A., writes from the Exeter Hall, Strand, London, February 2, 1888: "I desire to bear my testimony to the value of Alcock's Porous Plasters. I have used them for pains of the back and side arising from rheumatic and other causes never without deriving benefit from their application. They are easily applied and very comforting. Those engaged as I am in public work which involves exposure to sudden changes of temperature will do well to keep a supply of Alcock's Porous Plasters in their portmanteaus."

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was—free from all trouble. Price of bottle, 25 cents. Sold by W. Pinner's Drug Store, large bottles 50c. and $1.00.

A Word to Ladies.

Ladies who desire a beautiful clear skin, free from pimples, boils, blotches and other eruptions, should commence at once to use Dr. Gann's Improved Liver Pills. They will also remove that heavy look about your eyes and make them bright, and will cure headache from whatever cause it arises. Remember you are only required to take one small pill at bed time, which is coated with pure sugar, and will not grip or produce any unpleasant sensation. Sold at 25 cents by S. J. Hodgkinson.

Happy Hosiery.

Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from kidney and liver trouble." John Leikin, farmer, stockman of same place, says: "Find the Electric Bitter to be the best liver and kidney medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies. He found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 25c. a bottle at Wm. Pinner's drug store."

A Sure Cure for Piles.

Itching Piles are known by moisture, like perspiration causing intense itching when warm. This form, as well as blood, bleeding and protruding, yield at once to Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly on the parts affected, absorbs tumors, allays itching and effects a permanent cure. Druggists or mail; treatise free. Dr. Bosanko, Piquette, O. Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson.

For Over Fifty Years.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all kinds of colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists throughout the world.

Bucklen's ACHILLES OINTMENT.

MORE ABOUT IRRIGATION.

Governor Thomas of Utah Deeply Interested in the Subject.

The Salt Lake News of October 3d contains the following correspondence that explains itself:

Reno, Nev., Sept. 30, 1891.

Hon. Arthur L. Thomas, Chairman National Executive Irrigation Committee, Salt Lake City, Utah.

DEAR SIR: Your favor urging the calling of an Irrigation Convention in Nevada was duly received. I enclose you herewith a call which has been issued by the Governor, calling an Irrigation Convention at Carson on the 9th of October.

"I am glad that you are taking energetic action with reference to carrying out the platform of the Salt Lake Convention. You ask me for any suggestions with reference to conducting the campaign.

"My leading suggestion is this: That the people of the States and Territories represented in the Salt Lake Convention should at every convenient opportunity be impressed by our Committee with the importance of the united action with reference to both parties. The seventeen States and Territories represented in the Salt Lake Convention should see to it that at each of the National Conventions held next year a thoroughly Western candidate belonging to their own section is represented as their choice for the Presidency.

"If we assert ourselves our views will be respected. If we simply content ourselves with supporting some Eastern man, we will obtain no recognition with reference to Cabinet appointments or the adoption of the measures that we have in view.

"It seems to me that it would be well for the Executive Committee to obtain a list of the State Committees of each party in every State represented at the Salt Lake Convention, and also a list of the county committees of each party in each State and that a circular should be addressed to each individual on these committees, impressing them with the importance of united action on the part of the States comprising this section.

"In addition to this the State Conventions are held next spring for the purpose of selecting delegates to the National Convention the names of the members should be obtained by our committee, and a circular should be sent to them at the place of meeting of the State Convention to the same effect.

"I believe that the mining and the Pacific Coast States are now prepared to take decided and united action upon all matters relating to their interest, if some method of organization is pointed out to them, and I know of no better method of securing this organization than through our committees.

"It might be well in sending the circular letter to the members of the State and County Committees above suggested to ask for answers, giving the views of the writers, relating to this matter.

Very truly yours,

F. FRANCIS G. NEWLANDS.

"P. S.—Later on I shall give my views as to the best method of presenting our measures to Congress."

The National Executive Committee has sent to the Hon. Francis G. Newlands of Reno the following letter:

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 22, 1891.

Hon. Francis G. Newlands, Reno, Nev.—DEAR SIR: We desire to consult you about the most effective method of organizing public sentiment in your State in support of the platform adopted by the Irrigation Congress. Our suggestion is that you request the Governor of your State to call a State Irrigation Convention at an early day, with a view, first, to obtain an emphatic endorsement of the policy adopted at Salt Lake, and second, to organize every county, so that petitions in support of the measure as introduced in Congress may be circulated, and the largest possible number of signatures obtained.

We will shortly send to all the leading newspapers of your State campaign material, accompanied by a letter requesting them to put the matter before their readers, and, if consistent with their views, to give their endorsement to the policy and lend their efforts to the campaign of education and organization. We would also suggest that you endeavor to have the representatives from your State at the Trans-Mississippi Congress, to be held at Omaha, October 15th, make a strong fight for the Salt Lake platform, and endeavor to secure the endorsement of that body.

Please write us fully and promptly in response to this, and keep us fully posted on the progress and plans of the campaign in your State. Within the next ninety days it will be necessary to erect efficient machinery by which the unanimous vote of seven Western States and Territories may be brought to bear upon the Congress of the United States. Yours, very truly,

ARTHUR L. THOMAS,

Chairman of the National Executive Committee.

WILLIAM E. SMYTHE, Secretary.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 5, 1891.

Hon. Francis G. Newlands, Reno, Nev.—DEAR SIR: Your favor of September 30th, at hand. Permit us to congratulate you upon the fact that, as a result of your vigorous efforts, Nevada secured the honor of leading the fight for the Salt Lake platform with the first State Convention called in its support. We trust that the result of this convention will be to unite the public sentiment of your State in favor of the cession of the public lands and that it will also provide means for the thorough circulation of petitions to be subsequently presented to Congress. Please advise us of the results of the convention very fully, in order that we may communicate with the other States the inspiration which we hope to obtain from Nevada.

We note what you say with regard to the wisdom of uniting the western people in support of their common interests and agree with you that much may be accomplished by such method. Awaiting your further communication, we remain, very respectfully yours,

ARTHUR L. THOMAS,

Chairman of the National Executive Committee.

HONEY LAKERS AT WORK.

Thirty Excursionists from California Visit the Home of the Honey Lake Land and Water Company's Labors.

Yesterday the N. C. & O. speeded northward over its rails a special train especially chartered by the Honey Lake Valley Land and Water Company to carry invited guests from California to the base of their engineering operations, about 65 miles north of here on the line of the narrow gauge railroad, where the company are beginning the construction of a monster dam, intended to irrigate nearly a hundred thousand acres of land, now lying useless in the Honey Lake Valley for want of applicable water.

The run of 64 miles was made in the exceptional time of one hour and thirty-five minutes, the first twenty-nine miles being covered in exactly one hour.

THE GUESTS.

Numbered Charles McClatchy, proprietor of the Sacramento Bee, and wife; H. A. Gear and H. T. Huggins, also of Sacramento; W. B. Lake, F. W. Lake and wife, Con. H. Peterson, F. D. Brandon, John Leechman, S. H. Cooke, G. H. Jones, L. H. Cooke, U. S. Revenue Collector, and S. Allen, of San Francisco; Gustave Holman, Birds Landing, Solano county; E. H. Newberg, Merced City; E. H. Fischer, Oakland; S. Allen, Watsonville; Assemblyman A. Brown of Calaveras; H. Sorenson, San Leandro; H. A. Gear, Courtland; W. V. Jubb, Pacific Grove; S. J. Rhodes and Uncle Jake McKissick to form a rear guard.

Just 64 miles from Reno, at the newly improved station, four capacious teams and an old-time six-horse stage coach were on hand to transport the guests to the base of the dam operations, about one mile west of the railroad, below the level of which and the surrounding mesa Long Valley creek flows nearly one hundred feet, being like the sunken road of the field of Waterloo. The road from the brow of the mesa is but newly constructed and descends with a pitch of about one hundred feet in ten hundred, besides being of a narrowness that would make Hank Monks' shade rejoice. After several vain entreaties to stop the coach by the timid riders, and be allowed to pedestrianize, the stately old Concord rolled up to the premises, and the guests were known, whether to fame or otherwise, as Taylor's Camp, the base of operations in the construction of the great Long Valley dam.
